

O. H. DIBBLE.

FEBRUARY 29, 1840.

Laid on the table.

Mr. DAWSON, from the Committee of Claims, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee of Claims have again had under consideration the petition of O. H. Dibble, and the accompanying documents, in relation to losses sustained by him, in consequence of the repeal of the law under which he entered into a contract with the United States, to build a bridge across the Potomac river in the District of Columbia, and report:

That they have examined the two several reports of the Secretary of the Treasury, made in conformity to the provisions of the act of June 30, 1834, on the claims of the said O. H. Dibble, and the allowance made to him.

The committee cannot ascertain that the proof now submitted to them is in anywise different from that laid before the Secretary; nor can they find any reason which would justify them in interfering with the results of the Secretary.

The committee therefore report the following resolution:

Resolved, That the prayer of the petitioner ought not to be granted.

Blair & Rives, printers.

January 23, 1834

Read on the table

Mr. Lusk, from the Committee of Claims, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee of Claims have again had under consideration the petition of O. H. Biddle, and the accompanying documents, in relation to losses sustained by him, in consequence of the repeal of the law under which he entered into a contract with the United States, to build a bridge across the Potomac river in the District of Columbia, and report:

That they have examined the two several reports of the Secretary of the Treasury, made in conformity to the provisions of the act of June 30, 1834, on the claims of the said O. H. Biddle, and the allowance made to him. The committee cannot ascertain that the proof now submitted to them is in anywise different from that laid before the Secretary; nor can they find any reason which would justify them in interfering with the results of the Secretary.

The committee therefore report the following resolution:
Resolved, That the prayer of the petitioner ought not to be granted.

That a bill be passed